Happy 2023 - I'm busy mapping out my year!

If the last quarter of 2022 was anything to go by, 2023 is going to be a cracking year for travel. So much has happened since Spring of 2020 but now we are back, as eager as ever to create memorable trips and experiences.

Almost all the Covid affected holidays have now taken place or are in the pipeline and with the wealth of new enquiries we've had recently it certainly feels good to be creating journeys of a lifetime rather than cancelling them!

In this issue we have a round-up of new experiences and locations in some incredibly diverse areas - Mongolia to Greenland, Bhutan to Bolivia and Jordan to Japan.

Turn to the back page for my favourite section - travel journals from happy clients! I'm off on a recce to the Maldives in July and Georgia in October so will update you all when I return.

"It was not my first venture into Scoresby Sund but this time it was different – more flexible with landings made at places where larger vessels don't go. Good displays of the Aurora and we also witnessed (at a distance) a large iceberg roll over silently and without warning. From Snesund with its spectacular hanging glaciers we experience Rembrandt Van Rijn under sail and made a respectable 6/7 knots towards the night anchorage at Sydkap. My favourites – the scenery together with the peace and quiet."

Shackleton's Legacy

I so enjoyed my visit to the Shackleton Legacy Exhibition at the aptly named Shipwreck Museum in Charlestown, St Austell. It was a wild and stormy day and the sea was crashing over the harbour wall as I sought refuge among Frank Hurley's incredible photographs of Shackleton's heroic 1914 attempted expedition to the South Pole. I loved this superb mock-up of the interior of Endurance.

"Thank you. I had a wonderful visit to Uzbekistan and Kyrgyzstan. The programme and the arrangements in support of it went like clockwork. The combination was perfect – the historical context, breath-taking scenery and distinctive ways of life of the people. Travelling solo has its challenges but you have always found me brilliant -so good to be with- guides who add immeasurably to my understanding and enjoyment. Their attention to my preferences (so well relayed by you) was first class."

David Carter, Uzbekistan and Kyrgyzstan, June 2022

"Fiona's patience and help was amazing given the number of changes to my Arctic trip, following the arrival of Covid in the world. I was ready to give up and throw in the towel, but she said, 'you're going to the Arctic' and go I did, and had the most amazing time."

"Holiday and experience of the Arctic and Polar regions were well beyond expectations and I was especially impressed with the knowledge and expertise of the ship's expedition leaders. The whole experience was definitely value for money, with varied zodiac excursions, walks and excellent cuisine. Although the SAS pilots' strike caused chaos on my return, Fiona was there to help and keep me informed about developments and flights home. I felt I was in safe and competent hands!"

Stephen Mott, North Spitsbergen on Plancius, June/July 2022

"You listened to the brief, were very proactive in developing the itinerary and responded patiently and positively to requests and tweaks. We enjoyed the hot springs, the emptiness of the Westfjords and were lucky with the Northern Lights. We loved the Icelandic horses so much we are going to meet one of the few UK breeders!"

Toby and Jane Gaddum, Iceland, September 2022

"A wonderful experience, and the four elements of Ilulissat, Ferry, Qaqortoq and Narsarsuaq were very different so I feel I experienced the full diversity of Greenland's West coast. Moving ice is mesmerising."

Anne Robinson, West Greenland by Ferry, August 2022

"Well that was a wonderful trip. I have achieved a lifelong ambition to visit Gallipoli and literally walked in my great uncle's footsteps."

Andrew and Judy Given, Turkey, October 2022

"Thank you so much, Fiona, for organising such an amazing holiday. The hotel was wonderful: service, welcome, food, wine, organisation, staff – all were top quality. On arrival we were met by the host and charming staff and a delicious 3 course dinner of marinated shoulder of lamb – so light and well prepared despite the late hour (11pm)! Our favourite day was the Granada/Alhambra trip."

Mr and Mrs Anthony Newsome and family, Hacienda de San Rafael, Andalucia, Spain October 2022

"Fiona was always friendly, cheerful and helpful and made a great effort to find the best flights to Oslo. Patience and persistence paid off. I really enjoyed the trip. Boat comfortable, guides excellent, always felt safe."

Maggie Guiry, Around Spitsbergen, Kvitoya on Plancius, August 2022

Joan: "I had a wonderful time. Never did anyone make me feel a nuisance and often gave me easier trips in a quad bike with a guide. The scenery and light is lovely. The cabins are comfortable and sufficient although no hot water. The food was amazing, so much and good and very varied. The company was great and interesting. Some of the visitors were back for two, three and four times."

Hugh: "Fiona provided a wealth of information pre booking and departure and kept us informed of all the updates from the lodge. Guides were very good and keen. Weber family were perfect both with information before via WhatsApp and during the holiday from briefings, trip options each day, and unbelievable food in such a remote area. Favourite: Wolves close up, scenery, no one else there."

Joan and Hugh Dampney, Arctic Watch Lodge, July 2022
